

Welch Missions

February & March 2018

God is good! He is better than you think!

Binti Staff Empowerment Sessions

Personal ministry time during the training.

We know how to have fun at the Binti Project!

Pictured Above: God has called us to empower our staff at the Binti Project. These beautiful women of God are loving mothers and pastors to our sweet binti. We know that there are times we have to be in the States and the staff has to be able to lead in our absence. We are confident that they are more than capable to love our ladies and lead them well! Pray for them as they manage the home.

Pictured Left: Vicki took Binti Boutique items to the U.S. during her visit in March and they were a big hit!

Praise Report: A friend in North Carolina raised money for a machine that sews leather! Be on the look out for new products from the Binti Boutique

We are still needing financial partners for the Binti Project. Would you prayerfully consider partnering with us in making a difference in the lives of ladies who are wanting to leave the sex trade industry? Please email us at welchmissions@gmail.com.

On an outing with the children of Treasures of Africa children's home.

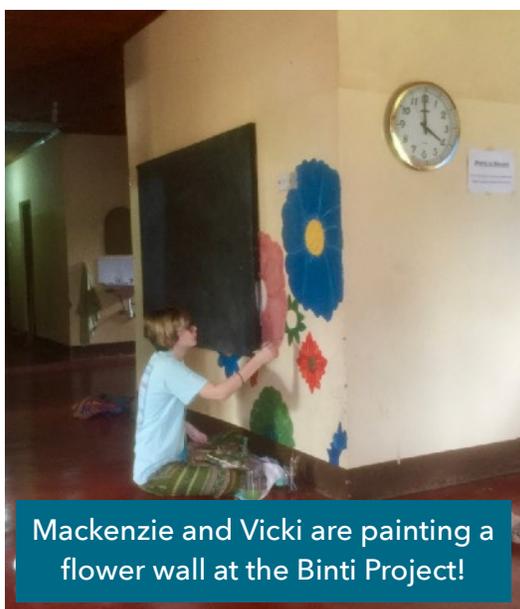

Naomi, a graduate of the Binti Project, has her own tailoring business in a local village.

Naomi is measuring one of her customers. She is a wonderful testimony of the transforming power of Christ and is a great example to the other ladies who want to leave the streets. Pray for her and her business. She is a single mother of 3 daughters.

Mackenzie has made some sweet friends here. Rylee and Lilly are also from a missionary family here in Moshi.

Mackenzie and Vicki are painting a flower wall at the Binti Project!

GOOD NEWS! Our new organization, Watu Kamili, has been registered and approved in Tanzania. Now, we are able to apply for work permits and visas under this organization. Watu kamili means people who are complete, lacking nothing, perfect (in Christ of course).

PRAY: Mackenzie leaves for California, where she will work for the summer and live with her sister for several months until Madison's wedding. She will fly out the first week of May. If you would like to help with her airfare, contact us at welchmissions@gmail.com.

During her visit to the U.S., Vicki's dad was diagnosed with stage 4 liver cancer which has spread to other parts of his body and has been given only a few months to live.